

Argentina's Four Main Regions

If you were to visit Argentina, it would be hard to know what to pack. It is one of the most amazing and diverse geographical areas in the world! There is sun, snow, wind and rain. There are flatlands and mountains, cities and wide-open spaces.

Sam and Sofia have packed a few important items for their travels across the four main regions of Argentina. Use the illustrations as clues to figure out which items they will need in each region. Write the name of each item in its correct blank space.
